Dear Mr. Baird:

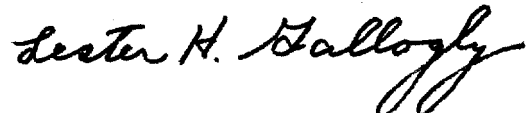

The U. S. Army Strategic Intelligence School is desirous of initiating a period of instruction on "Elicitation Techniques" for the 51st Attache Class. Such a presentation, relating to elicitation as distinguished from interrogation or interviewing techniques, would more closely approximate the "on the job" experience of a military Attache and thus be of great benefit to our training program.

The proposed date of this presentation is 4 January 1960 from 1330-1520 hours, a two hour training period. However, adjustments are possible in this proposed time.

All students are cleared for access to TOP SECRET information.

I am hopeful that you will provide speakers for this presentation and that direct liaison will be authorized between the designated speakers and the staff of the U. S. Army Strategic Intelligence School.

Sincerely yours,

LESTER H. GALLOGLY
Colonel, Infantry
Assistant Commandant
